About me

Freshly graduated student with Business Information Systems degree from De Montfort University in Leicester UK, achieving first-class Honours. Distinguished by attention to details and a passion for improving in every possible way. Future plans are tied tightly to the IT environment and further studying to increase knowledge in this area.

I am looking for a place, where I could use the knowledge and experience gained at the university and translate that into real life scenarios, as well as having a chance to learn something new.

Interests

Love spending time outside riding my bicycle and exploring new paths. I am a big petrolhead guy, that looks at every motorized vehicle with interest. Currently my main focus takes the Queen of Motorsport, which is Formula 1. When I've got some free time and I am not on the move I play computer games, watch tv shows and take a good care of my car. I also like to keep up to date with the new technologies, which does not always end well for my wallet.
